ALL ADMIRE FAITHFUL MAN

Instinctive for People to Look Up To and Respect That Kind of Individual.

It is the faithful average man whom we inevitably look up to and respect. In all probability he will go to his grave without public recognition or formal acknowledgment of his substantial qualities. Yet unwittingly we pay our tribute to him. For when we remark that we have known such a man to be identified with one institution for 30, 20, 25, 30 or 40 years, it is scarcely necessary to add that he is worthy, faithful, competent, honest, dependable, etc., because in our very manner of directing another's attention to him we have exclaimed: "There's a man for you!"

Or, take it the other way. Have you not noted the peculiar pride and satisfaction with which a man informs you that he has been employed by the same house, or been connected with it, for a long period of years?

He does not say it in so many words, possibly he doesn't mean to boast, but just the same he wishes you to understand that he has been faithful, acceptable and proficient, and that these are the secrets of his success—a success not always accounted in dollars and cents, but rewarded by the consciousness of duty done and confidence retained through all the mutations of time.

He that would be faithful in the occupations of peace must fight—even as soldiers do. He must fight his own rebellious spirit and the temptations of his manifold. The temptation to change is almost irresistible. The longing for new fields is hard to overcome.

DIDN'T SEEM RIGHT TO HER

Some Will Think, However, That Enthusiast at Tennis Match Knew Little About the Game.

There must have come within the focus of the movie folk. Anyway, the stars were out in force to watch the national championship matches at Forest Hills. One fair heroine of a hundred dramas who lent brilliancy to the grandstand by her rose-pink sweater suit, her brick-pink garden hat and her purple-pink complexion, sat thoughtfully clasping her jeweled knuckles throughout the national doubles contest. Before the match grew exciting she wrapped her yellow fur around her and settled down to pleasant dreams. Suddenly the bleachers rocked with applause at a killing stroke, and the film lady awoke to the suggestion that the "big scene" was on.

Registering excitement with her movie eyes, she grasped her companion's arm. "Look, Jim," she hissed, pointing to the fiery Comet, "look at that red-headed slob. He's trying to grab all the scene for himself and cut his partner out. And when he does hit the ball he smashes it down so hard that he doesn't give those little fellows on the other side a chance to send it back. Call that fair? I guess not. Who's running this show?"—New York Evening Post.

An Old Trail

Uncle Eben—I just had a letter from my English cousin. He was in the trenches. He says one day his company was ordered to charge, and the first thing he knew he ran into a lot of barbed wire, several miles and a hundred German batteries. ## DR. KENDALL WILL ADDRESS SUNDAY SCHOOL

Every Metendist, Whether Young or Old, Expected at Rally Day Services; Goal Set at 500

The great forward movement in the Epworth Methodist Episcopal church, South, begins tomorrow. The greatest gathering of Sunday school scholars in the history of the local church will greet the coming of Dr. Willmoore Kendall, the blind evangelist, who will preach his first sermon Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. The goal has been set for 500 in the Sunday school, and every scholar and teacher expects to bring at least one new scholar with him.

C. Schlotterbeck and all of the officers of the Sunday school are planning for the greatest rally day service ever held. Every member of the church, and every friend, and all those who are not already identified with some other Sunday school are urged to be present at 9:45 a. m.—that means you!

Dr. Kendall, whose likeness graces this page, is said to be one of the most remarkable ministers in this section of the country. He will address the scholars in the Sunday school just before the preaching service. "No boy or girl can afford to miss seeing this blind preacher," said Dr. Cohen. "He is as fascinating and interesting as the famous Helen Keller. Though blind, he led his classes in the Northwestern University, understands both Hebrew and Greek, and is perhaps one of our best authorities on English literature. He has a great lecture on Sidney Lanier, the Palace of Art, the English Novel, etc. I want to see every friend of mine present at the Sunday school to make it the greatest day in our church's history. We will not be satisfied with one soul less than 500." The revival which begins Sunday morning, said Dr. Cohen, will continue for two weeks, services every night at 7:45 and cottage prayer meetings all over the city every afternoon at 3 o'clock, places to be announced later. Everyone is cordially invited to attend these services.

LICENSED TO WED

Two licensees to wed were asked for yesterday afternoon at the court clerk's office for maidens under legal age, for which the consent of the fathers were secured. They were issued to Homer Herndon, 22, Rush Springs, and Miss Emma Jeffords, 16, Rush Springs, and to Henry Jackson Seymour, 23, Rush Springs, and Miss Dovie Benn Guinn, 16, Rush Springs.

SWEET POTATOES DAMAGED

R. P. Fronerberger, a deputy sheriff at Minco, was among the county court visitors today and reports that a heavy frost was visible on the bottom lands between here and that city yesterday morning. Damage to sweet potatoes only was reported.
